POWERS CASE IS REVERSED.

Death Sentence Set Aside and New Trial Granted by Court of Appeals.

FOUR OPINIONS ARE DELIVERED.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 6.—The Court of Appeals, in an opinion delivered by Judge Barker, today reversed the Scott Circuit Court in the case of Caleb Powers, under sentence of death for alleged complicity in the murder of William Goebel.

Judges Paynter, Hobson, and Nun dissented, Judge Paynter writing the opinion. Judge O'Rear wrote a separate opinion, concurred in by Judge Barnum. In addition to the opinion of the majority reserving the decision, Judge Barker also wrote a separate opinion.

This is the third time the case has been reversed, two former convictions having been for life imprisonment.

The main opinion rendered by Judge Barker reverses the case on these grounds:

First.—The court refused to give the defendant time in which to discover and file additional grounds for a new trial.

Second.—Because the sentence was pronounced on the same day the verdict was returned.

Third.—Because of the remarks of an attorney representing the Commonwealth.

The point of error was made by Attorney Campbell in argument when he said "Howard" was not hung, but eleven of the twelve jurors who tried him were in favor of hanging him, and one was for life imprisonment, and the eleven had to come to one."

"We are of the opinion," the court says, "that under all the circumstances of this case the court erred in sustaining the motion in regard to this statement of counsel. That is, to exclude it from the jury."

"There was not, and could not have been, legally any evidence in the case warranting the obnoxious statement; it was a gratuitous declaration without lawful foundation, in substance and effect conveying incompetent evidence to the jury."

"No statement which counsel could have made more certainly fraught with danger to the accused or which was more likely to arouse the passions of prejudice in the minds of the jurors than that under consideration."

"On the same day upon which the verdict was rendered the appellant was required, over his protest, to file his motion and grounds for new trial; they were required to be immediately argued by the counsel, and were at once overruled by the court. The lawyers were wearied by their prolonged labors, and that a few day's time would enable them to produce additional grounds, which they did not then possess, in support of the motion. The accused, especially, insisted that the court should not pronounce judgment upon him in pursuance of the verdict of the jury until after the expiration of the time provided by the code. These motions were overruled and judgment pronounced upon the same day the verdict was rendered."

"Unless we are to hold that section 288 of the code was enacted for no useful purpose, it contains a most solemn and vital right of the accused; its meaning is upon the surface; it requires no reflection to understand."

stand it; it was enacted for the express purpose of giving the accused time in which to show cause against the sentence before it was passed upon him. This trial was had during a special term of court, and it cannot be said that within the meaning of the code that the term was about to end, because, having been called, for the purpose of the trial of this case alone, it of necessity would not end until that was completed."

Judge Paynter's dissenting opinion discusses at length the three grounds set out for reversal. The separate opinion of Judge Barker, in which he contends that there is a Federal question, is concurred in by Judges Barnum and O'Rear, and discusses at length the Federal question raised.

The Powers Case.

This is the third time that the Powers case has been reversed. On the first trial the jury found a verdict of guilty, and the sentence was imprisonment for life; the second trial resulted in the same verdict and the same sentence. The third trial resulted in a sentence of death, and it is from this that Powers is now relieved by the decision of the Court of Appeals.

Caleb Powers is a native of Eastern Kentucky, and was born near Barbourville. He was educated at Centre College, and in 1899 was a candidate for Secretary of State on the same ticket with W. S. Taylor, at the time of the Goebel-Taylor election. He was given the certificate of election, and while a contest was pending Mr. Goebel was assassinated.

It has always been the theory of the prosecution that Mr. Goebel was killed by a bullet fired from Powers' office, and that the latter was a conspirator in or ranging for the murder.

The various trials of Powers have attracted national attention. The chief claim always made by Powers and his attorneys was that the jury was composed solidly of his enemies.

Observations in Brief.

(William J. Burtseher.) To find out if there's anything in a name, dropping the last letter, spell Taft backward.

Now that the World's Fair is a thing of the past those who were lucky enough to be unable to attend may figure on what they have gained by staying at home.

The term "Usona" will never die in lieu of "America." It sounds too much like a breakfast food.

The more a man takes from his supply of knowledge the larger it will get.

KENTUCKY EXHIBIT IS TO BE MADE PERMANENT

Fine Displays at World's Fair Will be Returned for New State Capital.

PRESIDENT FORD AND SECRETARY HUGHES HIGHLY COMMENDED BY THE BOARD.

The good done by the Kentucky World's Fair Commission is not to die with it. The better part of the magnificent exhibit of the State's products and resources made at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is to be returned to the commonwealth to become the nucleus of a permanent museum in the New Capitol at Frankfort. Plans in line with this action were formulated at a meeting of the commission held Nov. 29 in Louisville.

The State Geological Bureau and the State Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington are to be made custodians of the exhibits, subject to further disposition by the General Assembly. The mineral and forestry exhibits are to go to the Geological Board and the agricultural exhibit to the Experiment Station.

During the meeting President A. Y. Ford called up Gov. Beckham by telephone, explained the plan and got his approval as provided in the bill making the appropriation.

It is the hope of the Commission that a place will be made in the new State Capital. All of the acts of President Ford, of R. E. Hughes, the Secretary and Director of Exhibits, and of the Executive Committee were approved unanimously and a resolution adopted strongly commanding them for the work done.

One act which was especially applauded was that of the sale of the Kentucky Building on such favorable terms. It will be remembered that when Kentucky was allotted a site for a State building at the exposition, the commission had to agree, as did all other commissions, to remove the building within sixty days of the close of the fair, clear the site of all rubbish and restore the grounds to shape and grade.

In estimates the Kentucky Commission has figured on absolutely no salvage from this source, believing it would cost as much to conform to the rules of the exposition in this regard as could be secured from the sale. This belief was natural, the Commission having for its guidance the results of wreckage at Chicago, when the California building, which cost $35,000, was sold for $500. After taking several bids on the Kentucky Building, some of the exhibitors wanting to charge the Commission for removing the structure, the bid of the Chicago Wrecking company, amounting to $325, was accepted. This acceptance followed a statement by the architect of the building as to the amount of salvage that might be expected from the building, which was only a few hundred dollars. The board complimented Mr. Ford very highly for getting rid of the contract with the exposition so advantageously. Other State Commissions consider themselves quite fortunate to get one per cent of cost for their buildings.

The financial report made by the secretary showed that there would be funds left on hand at the wind-up of business to be turned back into the State treasury. This report also disclosed the gratifying information that no commissioner had spent the allowance for expenses made him by the Legislature. At least $1,000 of the $3,500 appropriated for Commissioners' expenses will not be spent.

The board decided to give the fine piano in the Kentucky Building to the Governor's mansion at Frankfort, to remain there for the use of Gov. Beckham and family and future governors and their families. This is the thousand dollar piano donated to the Kentucky Exhibit Association by D. H. Baldwin & Co., of Louisville. It is made of Kentucky woods and the panels have painted on them Kentucky scenes.

RURAL ROUTES AND POSTAL SERVICE THROUGHOUT KENTUCKY

Annual Report of Postmaster General Gives Interesting Statistics.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The annual report of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General for the last fiscal year shows that during that period 433 fourth-class postmasters in the State of Kentucky resigned from office. The number of offices of the first-class in the State is five, second-class sixteen, third-class sixty-four. The number of fourth-class offices is 3,145, of which number 600 are money order offices.

Kentucky, with an estimated population of 2,257,386, ranks nineteenth in the number of presidential offices and third in the number of fourth-class postoffices. The average compensation of the fourth-class postmaster in the State is $108.90.

The gross receipts of Kentucky postoffices during the year were $1,994,885.37, the average amount expended per capita thus being 88 cents.

At the end of the fiscal year 320 rural free delivery routes were in operation in Kentucky with 152 cases pending. The total number of pieces of various classes delivered on the State's rural free delivery routes was 10,139,487. Of this number 6,309,384 were newspapers and 2,272,239 were letters. The total number of pieces of mail collected on the rural free delivery routes of the State was 1,567,190. The value of stamps canceled amounted to $31,190. The total amount paid to the carriers of the State was $152,565.

INDIANA SAYS TAYLOR WILL NOT BE RETURNED

Closed Friend of Governor-Elect Hand on Requisition Rumor.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 2.—Despite the stories that have been going the rounds, Sheriff Robert Metzger, of Indianapolis, at the Burnet House today said he was positive Governor-elect Hanly, of Indiana, does not intend to honor a requisition for the return to Kentucky of W. S. Taylor for trial on charges of complicity in the murder of William Goebel. This is the opinion of Hanly, the architect of the building as to the amount of salvage that might be expected from the building, which was only a few hundred dollars. The board complimented Mr. Ford very highly for getting rid of the contract with the exposition so advantageously. Other State Commissions consider themselves quite fortunate to get one per cent of cost for their buildings.

The financial report made by the secretary showed that there would be funds left on hand at the wind-up of business to be turned back into the State treasury. This report also disclosed the gratifying information that no commissioner had spent the allowance for expenses made

It is reported that the New Year will see a general shifting of positions among the high officials of the L. & N. railroad.

Rumor says Traffic Manager C. B. Compton will be made Vice President. D. M. Goodwin, G. G. A., is mentioned to succeed Mr. Compton as traffic manager. C. R. Brent, assistant general freight agent, is named as successor to his present chief as head of the department. If these changes are made numerous other shifts of lower degree would follow, numbering many promotions in all.

Capt. C. B. Moody, who has been conductor on the Providence accommodation for several years, has been promoted and given one of the fast passenger runs between Nashville and St. Louis. He will be succeeded by Conductor Harry Bramwell. Conductor Moody is a fine railroad man and a popular gentleman. He will take his family to Nashville and reside there. Conductor Bramwell is also a popular young railroad man. His family will occupy the dwelling vacated by Conductor Moody at Providence.

The union station at St. Louis handled an average of 1,600,000 persons a week during the period of the World's Fair from opening to its official close.

Fireman Patrick Dean has resigned to go back on the Memphis line, where he fired before he came to the Henderson Division.

Tom Poole, of Sebree, for the past year employed as machinist helper at Howell, has resigned, and will go to Arkansas, where he expects to procure a position with some saw mill company.

R. A. Sullivan, fireman on the St. Louis Division, has resigned.

Fireman W. J. Rogers has been off for sometime on a leave of absence.

A hunting party composed of conductor Chas. Lindsay and engineers William and Loch Rowe, and Chas. Joyce, will leave Monday for the wilds of Arkansas some hundred miles or more from Memphis. They intend to spend some two weeks in this locality, where deer and turkey roam the woods untrammeled. Conductor Lindsay was on a hunting trip in this part of the country last year, and the fact of his returning would indicate sufficient game to attract expert hunters.

"Are the members of your dramatic club very enthusiastic?"

"Are they? Why, when we presented 'Hamlet' in the next village last week, half the company walked all the way home on the railroad track to give it a professional flavor." —Puck.

Mrs. Loch Rowe will leave for Gulfport, Miss., in a short time, where she will visit relatives until Mr. Rowe's return from his hunting trip in Arkansas.

Letters of an Engineer to His Master Mechanic No. 6

"Well, I'm still on deck, but you'll find this letter more or less dull as I've got a dull lead pencil to write with. The only thing I have to report is that a lump of coal fell off the tank today as we were passing over "Goose-neck ridge," which killed two rabbits and a yaller dog that was a-chasing them in its downward flight, but I didn't have time to stop the train and pick them up. I am more or less non-plussed to know whether I ought to make out a stock report or not for killing of that dog. How's this for a new maxim—A rolling stone does not only gather no moss but cannot stop when it reaches the bottom, as the momentum will carry it still farther.

Surprise Wedding Last Night of Two Popular Earlintonians.

Mr. Walter Davis and Miss Florence McGregor were married last evening at Madisonville, the Rev. Price E. Gatlin officiating.

Behind this simple announcement is a romance that has gradually ripened into a roseate reality for two of the most popular young people in Earlinton.

The wedding was a surprise in that neither the time nor the manner was known beforehand, but it is the event the Earlinton friends of these two young people have naturally expected would happen at the proper time.

Mr. Davis and Miss McGregor drove over to Madisonville after supper last night, telling only a few close friends who of necessity must know.

Miss McGregor is a sister of Mrs. W. K. Nisbet, of St. Charles, and Dr. and Mrs. Nisbet accompanied them.

Mr. Davis is clerk to Trainmaster Sergeant.

Miss McGregor has for about a year past held a position in the Earlinton post office.

Both were at their posts as usual all day, and the surprise of their wedding is complete.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis will make their home in Earlinton.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

I wish to call the attention of the County Superintendents and teachers of the public schools to the teaching of reading to the children of the Commonwealth. To read well is absolutely essential to success in the studies of the common school curriculum, and to become well-informed and intelligent.

This subject has been heretofore very much neglected. Very few of the pupils who attend the public schools can read well. The result is they never take that interest in the other studies that they should take.

Again, when it is an effort for the pupils to read they never cultivate and form the reading habit, and therefore become intelligent. Devote as much time as possible to reading and if you must neglect any branch of study, let it not be reading. I assert without fear of conclusive contradiction that if all the pupils of the present generation were taught to read well, we would have the most intelligent citizenship of any state in the Union.

In order to encourage teachers and pupils to take more interest in this most important subject, I am having some beautiful lithograph Rewards of Merit made, and will gladly furnish them to all superintendents who will induce their teachers to use them, and incite their pupils to try harder to become good readers. I shall in a few days send samples of these Rewards of Merit to the Superintendents and ask them to examine them and to co-operate with me in an effort to get the teachers to use. By way of suggestion I will say that the teachers who will enter into this enterprise can announce to their classes in reading that at the end of each month they will have a reading contest, and that the pupils in each class that has made the most progress during the month in reading shall be awarded one of these beautiful lithographs, signed by the State Superintendent, the chairman of the Board of Trustees, the teacher and the County Superintendent.

I believe that such a step would be a great incentive to children to learn to read well and thereby be of incalculable benefit to them in every respect. I appeal to the Superintendents to assist me in this work, and thereby make our schools more efficient and our children more intelligent and accomplished.

Says Labor Unions Shall Put no Collar About His Neck.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 5.—"Labor unions at Zeigler or anywhere else can't put a collar around my neck and give me orders what kind of labor I shall buy with my money. When I go into the market to purchase labor I propose to retain just as much freedom as does a purchaser in any other kind of a market. The union at Zeigler can't either baffle, bluff or frighten me," said Joseph Leiter tonight on his return to Chicago from Washington, where he has been attending the wedding of his sister, formerly Miss Nancy Leiter, to Maj. Colin Campbell.

When questioned about the indictment obtained against him for importing armed men into Zeigler, Mr. Leiter laughed and termed the indictment "an attempt to frighten me which is only amusing. There is not one man down there who has nerve enough to try to continue action under the indictment," said Mr. Leiter. "It was obtained before a jury of unionists and has no foundation of fact whatever to rest upon."

"As to the situation in Zeigler, a riff-raff mob is trying to terrorize the community, and as long as that condition lasts the militia will remain. Work is going steadily ahead in my properties, however, and nearly 300 men are at work underground. There is no difficulty whatever in obtaining labor for the country is full of unemployed men, and probably of them do not belong to unions. Labor unions are steadily losing ground in the United States, and they have been done particular harm by the Sam Parks case and other exposures of their methods in New York."

MINING NOTES.

Barbourville, Ky., Dec.—The Cumberland Railroad Company, composed of Pennsylvania capitalists, is building a seven-mile extension from the L. & N. tracks into the Brush creek coal fields, into the lower part of this county. Several big coal concerns have begun initial work in that region within the past month.

Capt. Ed Woolfolk and Manager Shay, of the United States Gas, Coal and Coke Company, have returned from Pittsburgh, where they bought all the barges on the market, about thirty-six, which will be delivered as soon as the river is high enough. The barges are to be used for towing coal from the Caseyville mines in Union county.

Mr. George Brown has been made traveling representative of the United States Gas, Coal and Coke Company and Mr. Shay, who came from the east, has been made general manager at Paducah, Ky.

Maysville, Ky., Dec. 8.—This city is now threatened with a coal famine. This morning there was not a bushel of coal to be bought here, all the dealers having sold their supply of river coal. Unless the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad comes to the rescue there will undoubtedly be suffering among the poor classes, who are unable to lay in a supply.

Elwood Smith, a driver in the mines at Providence, had a foot badly mashed by getting run over with a car one day last week, but no bones were broken. He formerly worked at Barnesville and also in the mines here and his many friends are sorry to learn of his misfortune.

Liston Straker, who has been employed as hostler at Arnold mine, has been transferred to driving at the same place.

Foreman Toombs and crew are erecting a new town chute for the local trade on the south side of No. 9 tipple this week.

L. E. McCarley, of Columbus, Ohio, who has been putting in machinery at the Rose Creek mines near Nebo, for several weeks, went to Oak Hill and Nortonville Monday for machinery which the Rose Creek people had bought at those places.

Mr. Thanny Priest, of Linton, Ind., who has been visiting relatives here, returned home Tuesday night.

Pearl Brooks, who had one of his feet badly mashed in No. 11 mine last week, is getting along nicely.

Wm. Hancock, ass. Supt. of Zion Sunday school, has proved himself equal to his duty. He presided Sunday morning as an old hand at the business.

The W. C. E. of the Zion church is growing in interest and numbers.

Our news failed to come out for last two weeks owing to the editor being so busy.

The B. Y. P. T. organized last Sunday in meeting with success. We urge the parents to be given by the Baptist Sunday school on the 25th inst. Admission for adults 15 cents; children under 12 years 10 cents.

THE PRESIDENT TO THE CONGRESS

The Annual Message of President Roosevelt Read in Both Houses of Congress.

THE DOCUMENT A LENGTHY ONE COVERING ALL PUBLIC QUESTIONS.

A Brief Resume of the Salient Utterances on the Questions Awaiting Solution By the Country's Representatives in the National Congress.

Washington, Dec. 7.—President Roosevelt's message was received and read before the Fifty-eighth congress Tuesday. The document is lengthy, embracing nearly 19,000 words. Opened by a review of the year, it is said the chief executive passes promptly to the consideration of the questions deemed by him most worthy of consideration at the present session of the international legislature.

Following are some of the salient points of the message:

All questions of tariff and finance sink into insignificance compared with the importance of so shaping conditions that man may be the bread-winner, woman the mother. If a race does not have children, it is destined to die.

The national government alone can deal adequately with the great corporations. While necessary, they should be managed with regard to the public interest. Where this can be done under the present laws it must be done.

Where these laws fall short others must be made.

Wage earners have a right to organize, but not to commit violence upon those who do not support them.

The strong arm of the government in enforcing respect in international matters is the navy. I recommend that naval armament be increased. No other civilized nation has so diminutive an army. We are not to be excused if we fail to keep it a high grade of efficiency.

It should be our foreign policy to bring nearer the day when we shall be the equal political power throughout the world. But until some method is found to control offending nations it would be wicked for the most civilized powers to disarm.

There is no danger of having too many immigrants of the right kind. The evil of crime should be reduced. There should be a revision of the naturalization laws. By what acts expatriation may be assumed and how long an American may remain abroad under our protection should also be investigated.

Criminal offenders need a special type of punishment. The whi-beater, for example, is inadequately punished by imprisonment. Probably some form of corporal punishment would best meet this crime.

We must strive to keep the highways safe for travel. We must do this, for this it is necessary to stop robbers.

The increasing casualty list on railroads calls for action by congress.

I urge congress to consider whether the power of the bureau of corporations may not cover transactions in stocks.

There is increasing complaint at the difficulty of bringing criminals to justice. No subject better warrants attention.

It is expected that a people like ours, among whom even the worst crime, among living, is only sporadic, should express horror at the massacre at Kishineff and the oppression of the Armenians.

The Filipinos are at present utterly incapable of independence. Every measure should be taken with a view to their ultimate independence, either for a law-encouraging American capital to seek investment in the islands.

It is untrue that the United States feels land hunger or has projects concerning other nations of the hemisphere. We have no claims upon the nation such as other countries possess.

The veterans of the civil war have claims upon the nation such as other countries possess.

An Exchange of Views.
London, Dec. 6.—The Morning Post learns that there has been an unofficial exchange of views between Russia and Turkey concerning the exit of the Russian Black sea fleet through the Dardanelles. Turkey at present, according to the Morning Post, deems it advisable to adhere strictly to the Berlin and Paris treaties.

May Solve Chicago Mystery.
Chicago, Dec. 6.—The South Chicago police believe that they have the mysterious "Mr. Dove," or Hung, supposed to be the slayer of Chancery Date. William Knight and Marion Knute were arrested on the charge of stealing two automobiles, and it is said that Knight fits the description of the man wanted for murder.

Costly Blaze in New York.
New York, Dec. 6.—Ten persons were killed and a quarter of a million dollars' worth of property destroyed as the result of explosions caused by a spark leaping from a gasoline machine on which a chauffeur was working in an automobile garage on West Thirty-ninth street Monday.

Miner Killed by Falling Stone.
Sparta, Ill., Dec. 6.—Felix Harmon, a miner, was instantly killed here Monday morning in mine No. 3 by falling stone. Perry Fellows, another miner, who was working with him, received a broken arm, and was badly bruised about the body. Both reside at Blair, Ill.

The Last Appeal TO THE CLOAK TRADE.

WE have just received from our eastern cloak manufacturers our last shipment of this season's Cloaks and Furs, which places us in a position with the buying public that no other house can hope to have, as we are showing the latest things in these two lines that have been introduced in the last two weeks by Vogue. These goods reaching us late makes it doubly good for the buyer as we own them for 25 per cent less than the real market value on account of the delay in delivering, and in order that we may dispose of the entire lot in the next few days we will give the purchasers the benefit of this 25 per cent saving in both the jackets and Furs.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17.

We will have a formal opening of our

Toy Department

Where we can entertain the children, and request them all to come and look over the large display of Toys that Santa Claus has intrusted us with for this year's distribution. Our prices will be lower than elsewhere as we do not intend making one cent of the profit on them, but keep them only as an advertising medium.

It is you, Mister Reader that we hope to show our goods and quote our prices.

GRAND LEADER.

RETURNED AND SURRENDERED

J. W. Porter, of the Porter Installment Co., who recently figured conspicuously in the county papers and who went to St. Louis with all the company's cash, has returned and surrendered, but he has not surrendered to the officers of the law. He has merely surrendered his time and energy to the public and is now ready to show them an elegant line of

Furniture, Stoves, Sewing Machines, Trunks, Mattresses,

And other things too numerous to mention, which explains satisfactorily what he did with the money.

PROF. P. G. HOLDEN, THE AGRONOMIST

Iowa Pays Him $5,000 a Year to Teach Her Farmers How to Raise a Corn Crop.

ALL OF THEM THOUGHT THEY KNEW; NOW THEY KNOW DIFFERENTLY.

By Following the Rule Laid Down By Prof. Holden One Hundred Million Bushels Was Added to the Ordinary Corn Crop of Iowa.

Sioux City, Ia., Dec. 4.—A state of Iowa has been paying $5,000 a year for two years to a man who in the last 12 months has earned for the state $10,000,000. His name is Prof. P. G. Holden. He is an agronomist.

Iowa farmers laughed at the idea of a man with such a title trying to teach them, the best corn growers in the world.

But they do not laugh now. Instead, they flock by the hundreds to hear Prof. Holden talk, and they go away and do exactly as he tells them. As a result, in large part, of following his advice, they have raised about one hundred million bushels more corn this year than in any year of this century, and they expect to add another one hundred million bushels to their crop next year.

Prof. Holden became an agronomist—that is, an expert in grain raising—by accident. When he taught school in Michigan he got up a corn-growing contest among his pupils. He induced the boys to pick out the earliest, biggest and most perfect ears from the fields, save them and plant them from the best and most perfect kernels. The result, aided by scientific methods of culture, was that the boys raised more corn on their little patches than anybody had ever dreamed of.

Iowa Knows "A Good Thing."

Prof. Holden worked on his system until it was perfected. His fame spread, and the Funk brothers, who own a 25,000-acre farm in Illinois, offered him a big salary to run it. He planted 200,000 bushels of corn on his farm, and added to their yield more than 100,000 bushels the first year. The state of Iowa thought he was a good thing and engaged him to occupy the chair of agronomy in the Iowa Agricultural college, in Ames. The chair was created especially for him.

Holden made the改良的. Here, after a time, that he knew about corn-raising than they did, he traveled all over the state in special trains last spring and winter, making "tail end" speeches and getting better crowds than any vice-presidential candidate could draw. He also lectured and told the farmers how to select their seed corn, how to plant and cultivate it, and on what sort of ground to plant different varieties.

Iowa had not been raising good corn crops for several years. The farmers were disgruntled and many were in danger of losing their place as the first corn state, and the realization of this fact led to the engagement of Prof. Holden in the agricultural college.

Prof. Holden invited farmers to go to Ames in the winter and attend his school of seed corn selection and germination. They go by hundreds, and each returns an apostle of the improvement idea. The professor goes "tail-ending" through the state early in the spring. This year he traveled several thousand miles, the railroads furnishing him free trains and advertising him.

Cities Visited Lead in Yield.

The results are read in the crop reports on Iowa's corn yield this year. The average crop of Iowa corn for 1904 is 40 bushels to the acre. For nine years it has been 27½ bushels. This year's crop is aggregate 350,000,000 bushels, or 87,500,000 bushels greater than last year's yield. The crop is worth about $30,000,000 more than a year ago, and Prof. Holden is universally credited with a third interest in the extra yield.

Evidence in the professor's favor is overwhelming. The counties in which his methods did better than the general average which has the largest audience of bushels to the acre. These fields, worked under careful application of his methods, which have produced more than 100 bushels to the acre. Those with 80 bushels are frequent and 65 bushels is a common yield.

PHILIPPINE SCOUTS ORDER

The Four Companies Now at St. Louis to Form a Battalion of United States Infantry.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The president has directed that the Fourth, Twenty-fourth, Thirtieth and Forty-seventh companies, Philippine scouts, now at the Louisiana Purchase exposition, St. Louis, be organized as a battalion of infantry to be designated the "First Battalion, Philippine Scouts."

Capt. William H. Johnston, Sixteenth infantry, has been detailed as major, Philippine scouts, and assigned to command the battalion.

The scouts will remain in St. Louis until March, when they will go to Washington to participate in the inaugural ceremony of President Roosevelt. Meanwhile they will do regular guard duty in the city, the reservation in the World's fair grounds.
